Police Encounters under Egyptian Rule

with Ilana Feldman, Associate Professor at George Washington University

Wednesday April 8, 2015
11:30 A.M.
Ellison Hall, Room 132

Professor Feldman is an associate professor of anthropology, history, and international affairs at George Washington University. Her current project traces the Palestinian experience with humanitarianism in the years since 1948, exploring both how this aid apparatus has shaped Palestinian social and political life and how the Palestinian experience has influenced the broader post-war humanitarian regime.
