DO DRONES HAVE A “BLOWBACK” EFFECT?

SOME EVIDENCE FROM PAKISTAN’S TRIBAL AREAS

WITH

DR. AQIL SHAH

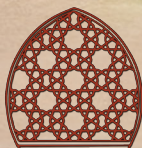

Wick Cary Assistant Professor of South Asian Studies
Department of International and Area Studies

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 29, 2016

Dr. Shah is a political scientist and the Wick Cary Assistant Professor of South Asian Studies in the University of Oklahoma's Department of International and Area Studies. He is also a non-resident scholar at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. Dr. Shah has a PhD in Political Science from Columbia University and an MPhil from the University of Oxford where he studied as a Rhodes Scholar. His research includes democratic transitions, military coups and South Asian security issues.

CIS is committed to a diverse, equitable and inclusive campus environment. This event is part of an on-going series of discussions to enhance awareness about diversity, equity and inclusion issues.
