

OU IRANIAN CULTURAL HERITAGE SERIES

“THE IDEA OF IRANSHAHR: FROM THE OXUS TO THE EUPHARATES: 200-1200 CE”

WITH TOURAJ DARYAEE

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 8

5PM

ASSOCIATE'S ROOM

THIRD FLOOR - OKLAHOMA MEMORIAL UNION

Touraj Daryaei is the Howard C. Baskerville Professor in the History of Iran and the Persianate World and the Associate Director of the Dr. Samuel M. Jordan Center for Persian Studies and Culture at the University of California, Irvine. He was born in Tehran in 1967 and attended school in Tehran and Athens. He received his Phd in 1999 in history from UCLA. His most recent book, “Sasanian Persia: The Rise and Fall of an Empire” IB Tauris, London, won the book award from British Society for Middle Eastern Studies in 2010. His forthcoming book is titled: “The Oxford History of Iran”, Oxford, 2011.

Sponsored by: The College of International Studies, OU Iranian Studies Program, Farzaneh Family Lecture Series, and the Iranian Heritage Foundation (IHF) America. This event is free and open to the public. For accommodations on the basis of disability, contact CIS at (405) 325-1396.

