ABOUT THE UNIVERSITY OF OKLAHOMA CAMPUSES

UNIVERSITY GOVERNANCE

The university is a part of the Oklahoma State System of Higher Education, which is composed of all higher education institutions supported wholly or in part by state appropriations. The Oklahoma Regents for Higher Education is the coordinating board for the system.

The university — as part of the public educational system of the state, established by legislative action and supported by annual legislative appropriations — places emphasis on sound scholarship, good citizenship, and the duties of the individual to the community and the commonwealth.

By constitutional enactment, the governance of the university is vested in the OU Board of Regents, a board consisting of seven members appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the State Senate. Each member is appointed to serve for seven years, except when appointed to fill an unexpired term, and is subject to removal from office only as provided by law for the removal of officers not liable to impeachment.

The Oklahoma Regents and the university regents approve the requirements for admission and graduation, the degrees offered, and the fees and expenses. The boards reserve the right to change these requirements.

NORMAN CAMPUS

The central campus and the offices of administration of the University of Oklahoma are located on some 3,500 acres in Norman, a city of more than 100,000 residents. Norman is located near the center of the state, 20 miles south of Oklahoma City, the state capital.

The colleges housed on the Norman campus are University College, the College of Architecture, the College of Arts and Sciences, the College of Atmospheric and Geographic Sciences, the Michael F. Price College of Business, the Mewbourne College of Earth and Energy, the Jeannine Rainbolt College of Education, the College of Engineering, the Weitzenhoffer Family College of Fine Arts, the Graduate College, the Joe C. and Carole Kerr McClendon Honors College, the College of International Studies, the Gaylord College of Journalism and Mass Communication, the College of Law, and the College of Liberal Studies. The Norman campus is also headquarters for the College of Continuing Education, which directs outreach programs throughout the state and around the world.

The Norman campus consists of four sections -- central campus, south campus, research campus and north campus. Most of the academic and administrative buildings are located on the central campus, noted for its Cherokee Gothic architecture and award-winning landscaping. Also situated on the central campus are the university residence halls; Sarkeys Energy Center; University Libraries; Fred Jones Jr. Museum of Art; Catlett Music Center, including Sharp Concert Hall and Pitman Recital Hall; Oklahoma Memorial Union; recreational facilities, including the Huston Huffman Physical Fitness Center and the Murray Case Sells Swim Complex; Gaylord Family -- Oklahoma Memorial Stadium; the Everest Indoor Training Center; and the Oklahoma Center for Continuing Education, a year-round educational center and conference site. Located one block east of the central campus is the OU Brandt Park and Duck Pond, a recreational area used throughout the year by OU students and Norman residents. David A. Burr Park is conveniently located near residence halls and other recreational facilities.

South Campus

Immediately adjacent to central campus is the south campus, site of the Law Center and OU Foundation; the University apartments; the world-class Sam Noble Oklahoma Museum of Natural History; Lloyd Noble Center and parking complex; the John Crain Field at the OU Soccer Complex; the Headington Family Tennis Center; the Jimmie Austin University of Oklahoma Golf Course; L. Dale Mitchell Baseball Park; the Marita Hines Fields – OU Women's Softball Complex; the Sam Viersen Gymnastics Center; and OU Children's World Learning Center.

Research Campus

OU's new 271-acre University Research Campus brings together academic, public, and private sector organizations in a mutually beneficial collaborative environment. It is anchored by the Stephenson Research and Technology Center, where cutting-edge research into life science fields ranging from robotics to genomic studies is taking place, and by the National Weather Center, a 244,000-square-foot facility that opened in August 2006 and that houses University educational and research facilities as well as federal operational forecasting, research and training facilities involving more than 550 people.

A series of "Partners Place" buildings house private sector and University organizations encompassing areas ranging from weather and hydrology to applied social research and geospatial information technologies. New to the Research Campus is a $2.5 million commercial weather radar, OU-PRIME, to support research and education. Newly opened are the third Partners Place building that brings together the Vice Presidents for Research, Technology Development, and the Chair and Chief Operating Officer of the OU Research Cabinet as well as housing several private companies, and the Stephenson Life Sciences Research Center, comprising some 30 state-of-the-art chemistry and biochemistry research labs.

Combined, more than 650,000 square feet now comprise the Research Campus. In the planning phase are light industrial facilities and a fourth Partners Place building. OU's Research Campus has been certified by the Oklahoma Department of Commerce as Site Ready, which allows the university to capitalize on fast-moving economic opportunities and enables site selectors to readily find quality land and facilities that meet nationally established criteria in a timely fashion.

ABOUT THE UNIVERSITY OF OKLAHOMA CAMPUSES

North Campus

North campus, which is two miles north of the main campus, includes the Merrick Computer Center; Max Westheimer Airport, the University-operated airport that also serves the City of Norman; and Swearingen Research Park, where government agencies and industry have established facilities.

Other research and study units of the university include the Biological Station on Lake Texoma; the Sutton Avian Research Center in Bartlesville; the Oklahoma Geophysical Observatory at Leonard near Tulsa; the Aquatic Biology Fisheries Research Center in Noble near Norman; and the Oklahoma Biological Survey, the Oklahoma Archeological Survey and Charles M. Russell Center for the Study of Art of the American West in Norman. In addition, the Oklahoma Geological Survey is a State Agency mandated in the Constitution of Oklahoma, and is part of the Mewbourne College of Earth and Energy at the University of Oklahoma.

HEALTH SCIENCES CENTER

The University of Oklahoma Health Sciences Center is the state's major educational resource for training physicians, dentists, nurses, pharmacists, public health specialists and a wide range of allied health personnel. The center is composed of the College of Allied Health, College of Dentistry, College of Medicine, College of Nursing, College of Pharmacy, College of Public Health and Graduate College.

Faculty and students use the clinical, laboratory and teaching facilities at the OU Medical Center, Veterans Administration Medical Center, The Children's Hospital at OU Medical Center, Presbyterian Hospital, Dean A. McGee Eye Institute, Oklahoma Department of Health, Oklahoma Medical Research Foundation, other affiliated hospitals in Oklahoma City, the major teaching hospitals in Tulsa, the Veterans Administration Hospital in Muskogee and various affiliated hospitals and clinics in other locations in Oklahoma. The OU Health Sciences Center is composed of the Presbyterian Health Foundation Research Park and 30 other biomedical entities, including the OU Health Sciences Center as its centerpiece.

Also housed at the University of Oklahoma is OU Physicians, the state's largest physician group. The practice encompasses nearly every adult and child specialty. Many OU Physicians have expertise in the management of complex conditions. Such expertise is unavailable anywhere else in the state, region or sometimes even the nation. Some have pioneered surgical procedures or innovations in patient care that are world firsts. They also serve as faculty at the University of Oklahoma College of Medicine and train the region's future physicians.

OU-TULSA SCHUSTERMAN CENTER

The OU-Tulsa Schusterman Center is located in the heart of mid-town Tulsa at 41st and Yale. On this campus both the OU Health Sciences Center and the OU Norman Campus offer programs. The vision of OU-Tulsa is to build a nationally-recognized center of higher education excellence in select areas that emphasize the strong campus-community partnerships and that leverage the unique opportunities and needs in the Tulsa region.

OU has a long history in the Tulsa area. The earliest program of the University of Oklahoma in Tulsa started in 1957 as a partnership with the Tulsa City-County Library. This program averaged 50 students a year and was one of the first programs to be part of the Tulsa Graduate Center, which became University Center at Tulsa in 1982. Recognizing the potential community impact of an expansion of OU services in Tulsa, the Oklahoma Legislature enacted Senate Bill 453 in 1972 that created a clinical branch of the University of Oklahoma College of Medicine in Tulsa. Today, the OU College of Medicine enrolls 60 medical students in their third and fourth years and trains 181 residents who conduct 200,000 patient visits annually at the college's ambulatory clinics.

Although OU's presence in Tulsa has been longstanding, it changed dramatically in 1999. As a result of the transformational $10 million gift from the Charles and Lynn Schusterman Family Foundation and the leadership of President David L. Boren, OU was able to purchase 60 acres at the corner of 41st and Yale, previously the BP-Amoco Research Center. The OU programs in Tulsa had been located in a wide variety of physical locations. By the fall of 2002, all OU academic programs in Tulsa were located at the Schusterman Center campus. This campus has allowed OU to better serve the community by providing a strong, centralized identity in Tulsa.

In February of 2008, the George Kaiser Family Foundation made a $50 million gift to the OU College of Medicine in Tulsa allowing the College of Medicine to have the explicit focus to improve the health status of underserved communities. To reflect that change, the name of the College of Medicine in Tulsa was changed to the OU School of Community Medicine, the first in the nation. The School of Community Medicine remains an integral part of the OU College of Medicine.

COLLEGE OF CONTINUING EDUCATION

The College of Continuing Education provides academic outreach opportunities to the state, region and nation. As the administrative unit for outreach at the University of Oklahoma, continuing education programs are the means by which the university extends its resources to the people of Oklahoma and beyond. By encompassing comprehensive, multidisciplinary academic services and programs that focus on the needs of adult learners, the College of Continuing Education offers both credit and non-credit courses, seminars, workshops, conferences, correspondence study, public service activities, and travel/study programs. The diversity and quality of the services available through continuing education programs provide an exciting and challenging academic experience.

HIGHLIGHTS OF 2011

The University of Oklahoma

January 2012

OU's 2011 freshman class was the largest freshman class in state history at a four-year public university and the largest in OU history. Academically, the class was also the highest ranked freshman class in OU history and in state history at a public university. OU maintained its No. 1 position in the nation in the number of freshman National Merit Scholars enrolled at a public university, with 207 freshman National Merit Scholars. A total of more than 700 National Merit Scholars are enrolled at OU for the 2011-2012 academic year. OU's fall 2011 freshman class enrollment of 4,053 reflects a dramatic increase from the entering class of 1995, which enrolled 2,600 students. It also breaks the previous record of 3,883 freshmen set in 2007.

OU had its second best fundraising year in its history in FY2011, with more than $156 million in gifts and gifts in kind. The total endowment was $1.208 billion.

OU's Campaign for Scholarships has raised more than $190 million in gifts and pledges since it was launched in 2005. In 2011, OU launched a new scholarship initiative called Every One Helps One, which asks each OU graduate to make a scholarship gift that will help one current student.

The Film and Video Studies program in the College of Arts and Sciences was renamed Film and Media Studies.

An OU honors student was named a 2011 Goldwater Scholar, bringing to 31 the number of OU students named to that honor since 1995.

Dedication ceremonies were held in June for the Peggy and Charles Stephenson Cancer Center, the largest single public-private partnership initiative in Oklahoma state history. It is named in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson of Tulsa and in recognition of their $12 million donation to the project. The State of Oklahoma provided some $90 million in funding, primarily from tobacco tax revenues, and the University Hospitals Authority and Trust approximately $25 million. More than $50 million in private funds were raised, primarily for endowed faculty chairs, which allow OU to recruit and retain outstanding faculty to the academic cancer center.

Also in 2011, the Cancer Center received the largest grant in its history – a five-year, $30 million grant – from the Oklahoma Tobacco Settlement Endowment Trust to help translate promising research into new and more effective cancer treatments and diagnostic tools.

Harold and Sue Ann Hamm made a $20 million gift, launching a $100 million campaign for the Harold Hamm Diabetes Center. It was the largest single gift in the history of the OU Health Sciences Center. Added to their previous support, it brought to $30 million the total gifts presented by Mr. and Mrs. Hamm to help OU create an internationally top-ranked, university-based center for diabetes research and clinical care.

The 160,000-square-foot, three-story Stephenson Life Sciences Research Center, which houses the research and administrative functions of the Department of Chemistry and Biochemistry, was dedicated in a public ceremony on the Norman campus. The SLRC and its neighbor to the south – the Stephenson Research and Technology Center – are named in honor of Peggy and Charles Stephenson of Tulsa, whose generosity helped make the high-tech facilities a reality.

Dedication ceremonies were held in August for Anne and Henry Zarrow Hall for the OU School of Social Work – home to the only social work graduate program in Oklahoma. The 30,000-square-foot building was named in honor of Henry Zarrow, a lifelong philanthropist, and his late wife, Anne, who shared his passion for helping others. The Anne and Henry Zarrow Foundation made a $5 million gift to the school to make the new building possible.

Dedication ceremonies were held in September for Gould Hall, home of the College of Architecture. When OU's architecture students started classes in the new facility in the fall, it was the first time that students from all five disciplines – architecture, construction science, interior design, landscape architecture, and regional and city planning – were housed under one roof.

The Stuart Wing of the Fred Jones Jr. Museum of Art opened in October and is named in recognition of a $3 million lead gift from the Stuart Family Foundation of Tulsa. Construction began in 2009 on the 18,000-square-foot addition and includes renovations to the original 1971 building, as well as the new Ellen and Richard L. Sandor Photography Gallery and new administrative offices. The Stuart Wing includes a new gallery to house the acclaimed Eugene B. Adkins Collection.

The OU School of Drama was named in honor of Peggy Dow Helmerich, a Tulsa civic leader and community volunteer whose acting career included performances in "Harvey" with James Stewart and "Bright Victory" with Arthur Kennedy. The naming honored Mrs. Helmerich's strong ties to the school and its students and her longtime support, including a new $2.5 million gift from her and her husband, OU alumnus Walter H. Helmerich III.

Ground was broken on OU's new $75 million housing center for students and student-athletes. The center is named in honor of major donor and OU alumnus Tim Headington.

OU announced a $2 million lead gift from Tulsans L. Francis and Kathleen Rooney to launch a $14 million campaign for the new College of International Studies at the university. The Rooneys' gift will help complete the renovation of OU's facility in Arezzo, Italy, site of OU's signature study abroad program.

In celebration of its 100th anniversary in 2011, the OU College of Medicine launched the Second Century Campaign for Scholarships. The Campaign had raised more than $4.1 million in gifts, pledges and planned gift commitments in the first seven months of its five-year drive.

To increase high school graduation rates and improve college readiness, OU and the Oklahoma City Public Schools were awarded a seven-year, $26 million grant from the U. S. Department of Education. The GEAR UP for PROMISE (Promotion of Readiness through Opportunities that Motivate and Increase Student Expectations) project was expected to directly benefit more than 4,500 sixth- and seventh-grade students in 10 low-income urban schools within the Oklahoma City Public School district.

OU was selected by the U.S. Department of the Interior as the site of one of only eight regional climate science centers nationwide. The center will link weather and climate projections with on-the-ground decisions about how best to manage federal lands, natural resources and fish and wildlife. The center increased to six the number of federally funded centers on the Norman campus.

The OU College of Nursing celebrated its Centennial with several events, a reunion and a fundraising campaign. The theme of the Centennial celebration was "The Power of 100," referring both to the college's first 100 years of teaching, research and service excellence and the fundraising campaign, in which the college's alumni were asked to consider the "power of 100" by making a gift to the college.

The topping off ceremony was held for the Wayman Tisdale Specialty Health Center, marking the halfway point of construction. The center will serve patients in north, east and west Tulsa, where, according to OU-Tulsa faculty research, life expectancy was 14 years less than in neighborhoods in south Tulsa.

The Schusterman Center Library at OU-Tulsa was dedicated and opened for students, faculty and the general public. The 22,000-square-foot facility was funded by the State Higher Education Bond Issue, the Charles and Lynn Schusterman Family Foundation and the Grace and Franklin Bernsen Foundation.

Construction began on the Founders Student Center at OU-Tulsa. This renovation will provide students with a lounge and commons area, access to computers, a recreation area and a student workroom. The bookstore, volunteer and counseling offices, coffee bar, and storage and event space also will be available.

The School of Industrial Engineering was renamed the School of Industrial and Systems Engineering.

- Notes:
- 1) The six-year graduation rate includes students verified as having completed a program of >2 and <4 years (completers). These completers are students in degree programs where the professional degree is the first degree awarded, such as pharmacy and physical therapy.
 - 2) The retention and graduation rates include students beginning on the Norman Campus who enrolled at or graduated from the OU Health Sciences Center.
 - 3) The 2001-2005 cohorts have been revised from prior publications to a more accurate cohort by verifying cohort status at the end of the first semester.
