

THE BUSINESS OF ACCOUNTING

Accounting is the ultimate puzzle with numbers—and the payoff is GREAT for those who crave to solve it.

What's it like to be in accounting?

It's much more than financial reporting and the bottom line. Accounting can be assisting entrepreneurs starting new businesses, advising investors on stock market choices or helping teams across a corporation or nonprofit understand aspects the organization's economic health. At the end of the day, you're impacting the trajectory of an individual or company's success through the 'language of business.'

What current students are saying

"The accounting program not only prepared me for two internships I completed in college through a variety of targeted courses, but they helped me get recruited by firms that I never saw as a real possibility for myself. The most powerful thing that OU's accountancy program offered me was not the world class education I received - it was the mentors, professors, and so many other individuals that I was able to have in my corner when the time came to be recruited and make hard decisions on opportunities." -Chad Kuwitzky, accelerated BBA/MAcc major
